EUROPE HAS A GREAT NEED FOR ENVIRONMENT-FRIENDLY ENERGY

In the years to come rising environmental standards and increasing energy requirements will lead to a sharp rise in demand for more environment-friendly energy.

At the same time, national and regional markets will gradually become more integrated, with a common European energy market becoming a reality in the future. Statkraft has already Europe's second-largest producer of renewable energy, and it is the company's stated ambition to succeed in this market and help make Europe's energy supply more environment-friendly.

KEY

4

ABOUT STATKRAFT

Both directly and through share-holdings in regional power utilities, Statkraft is involved in the entire value chain, from power generation to retail sales.

6

YEARS OF EFFORT ARE BEHIND US

President & CEO Rüdiger Mikkelson:
 "Statkraft has moved closer to its vision of being a European leader in environment-friendly energy."

16

NEW INVESTMENTS

Acceleration of hydro-power facilities in Sweden and Finland. Construction start-up for gas-fired power plants in Germany.

18

REPORT FROM THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Substantial water resources combined with efficient operations and good energy optimization explain the company's strong financial results.
